Mathematical Meteorology.

There is an old superstition that as many snows as the moon is days old when the first snow falls deep enough to track a rabbit will fall during the winter.
When the first snow of this season fell, on the day following Cleveland's election, the moon was twenty days old. There were six snows before New Year's Day, and there have been twelve during 1893.
If, therefore, the old saw is to hold good this winter two more snows are due to this part of the country.—Philadelphia Record.

Mercury.

If the world would judge less harshly Thoughtless souls that deeply sin.
If more hearts would try in mercy For our God these souls to win, Better, purer, would the world be,
And hard hearts would softer grow,
And more weary souls we'd lead back In the way that they should go.
Though the sin may be the greatest God or man can ever know, We are not to judge the sinner, Lest our God should judge us so;
And they suffer much believe me,
And they expiate their crime;
They are better than we think them,
And are sorrowing all the time.
Yet we often scold such sinners Whom we might save if we would;
Oh, would, ye knew not mercy!
As our God has meant you should;
Then try to help the erring, Try repentant souls to win,
And you soon will love the sinner, All the while you loathe the sin.
—Edith Melbury.

A writer in Farm and Home says that soot water is the best fertilizer for pot plants, as it does not make the soil foul, and also destroys all worms and insects, but it must not be used very thick or the surface soil may become too hard and dry. Mode of application once or twice a week for plants in full growth will be found most beneficial to them.
Pure soot may be mixed with twice its bulk of fine dry soil, and used as a top dressing; it is not safe to use it alone, as it may injure the plant, being extremely strong, but when thus mixed it will prove of great benefit to all garden crops.

It is reported that over three thousand acres of land in four townships of the State of Washington are held by women, and five or six more women are holding claims in the same region waiting a favorable time to prove up on them and acquire patents.

A single mahogany tree in Honduras was recently cut into board, which, when sold in the European market, realized over $10,000.

It is said that 2,000,000 pounds of English walnuts have been shipped from Whittier, Cal., during the past three months.

THE COMPRESSED FEET OF THE CHINESE

A writer in the Japan Mail, who appears to have special knowledge of the subject, refers to the well-known Chinese custom of compressing the feet of female children of the better classes in China. He hopes that few of his readers have been so unfortunate as to see the naked foot of an orthodox Chinese lady.
But many have looked at photographs of this terribly twisted and distorted member, and the sight must have suggested thoughts of barbarous suffering inflicted on a particularly sensitive part of the human body. Year by year hundreds of thousands of little girls, throughout the wide empire of China, are subjected to a ruthless process which crushes the bones and wrenches the sinews of their tender feet, until at last a revolting deformity is produced, and the foot, crumpled into a shocking monstrosity, becomes almost valueless as a means of locomotion. The wretched girl emerges from her period of feverish torture a mutilated cripple, condemned to hobble through life on feet which preserve no semblance of nature's beautiful mechanism, having become as hideous as they are useless. At intervals the missionary cries out, the traveler writes, and the charitable agitate; but the poor little children must suffer. For there remains always the same ruthless bending of bones, the same agonizing application of tight ligatures, the same long months of bitter pain and unavailing tears. Perhaps, he suggests, it is to this singular contrast between general refinement and cultivation of the Chinese on the one hand, and this callous cruelty on the other, that we must attribute the periodical appearance of apologists for the appalling custom. Some people say that, though the foot is ultimately deformed, though the woman is indeed condemned to be a little better than a cripple, yet the process is not so very painful after all. The bones are soft, they die, in early youth, and the sinews supply, twisting, crushing and wrenching as they may, that may be performed without much suffering on baby feet, whereas adults would be maddened by the torture.
To this the writer replies: "Let no one talk of the yielding character of young bones or the pliability of baby sinews.
We have listened with our own ears to the cries of a little girl undergoing this torturing process. Such agonizing wails never before fell on our ears. They were the shrieks of a child absolutely wild with suffering. When the ligatures were loosened and the shocking succession of breathless screams ended in long drawn wails of exhaustion and misery, the listener turned almost sick with horror and sympathy. Yet a mother was the deliberate torturer of the poor baby, and a father callously listened to his heartbroken cries. Think that this fiendish barbarity is being practiced daily and hourly throughout the length and breadth of a land containing 300,000,000 inhabitants! Not alone are the tender bodies of the poor little girls ruthlessly racked and tortured, but the purest sentiment of humanity, the love of parents for their children; is perpetually outraged. Such unnatural cruelty could be tolerated only in the presence of the worst kind of demoralization. How much can survive of the moral beauty of the paternal relation when fathers and mothers, in deference to a mere freak of fashion, consent to inflict on their daughters, day by day, the torture that well nigh maddens the baby brain and wrings shrieks of excruciating agony from the little lips? This is one of those facts that make us marvel when we hear a great destiny predicted for the Chinese nation."

Dress a Minor Consideration With the College Girl.

Dress in a woman's college is a matter of much slighter moment than it is popularly supposed to be. The last thing a girl who is in earnest about her educational career for is her gowns, if only they are comfortable and suitable. One girl known to the writer went through an entire college course of four years with four new gowns, and she was well dressed all the time. The expenses of fitting up one's quarters are not so much for a woman as for a man, supposing it to be done at all in the latter's case. The "knowing how," which is characteristic of a woman's fingers, is better than a great many dollars in a man's purse. The daintiest study parlors the writer has ever seen were two furnished with the most obvious articles of need by the college, and decorated at an additional expense of $25 for the two by the girls who had taken them for the year. There is no point of expense in which the woman student has not the advantage of the man student. No matter how little he can live on, she can live on less. When he economizes in dead earnest he goes into a cooking club and eats abominable food because it is cheap. She rigs up a heroic stove in her own room, and does her own cooking and lives well on a dollar less a week than he does.—Exchange.

Fat Enough.

A twenty-sixth ward citizen who was raising a fine hog in the rear of his residence was notified by the Board of Health to remove the animal outside the city limits. Not wishing to move and thinking the hog was not fat enough to kill, he sent word to a colored man who had a small farm in Montgomery county to take the pig to his place until it was fat enough to kill, agreeing to give one half of the carcass for his trouble. Sam took the hog home, and the next morning brought half it back to the Manayunk.
"Why, Sam," said the owner, "I told you to keep that hog until it was fat."
"He was fat enough for me, sah; dar's yo' haf," replied Sam.—Philadelphia

The Number Seven.

The number 7 is composed of the first two perfect numbers, equal and unequal, 3 and 4; for the number 2, consisting of repeated unity, which is no number, is not perfect; it comprehends the numerical triangle or time, and square or quadrilateral conjunction, considered by the favorers of planetary influence as of the most benign aspect.

In six days creation was completed, and the 7th day was consecrated to rest.
On 7th day of the 7th month, a holy observance was ordained to children of Israel, who fasted 7 days, and remained 7 days in tents; the 7th year was directed to be a Sabbath of rest for all things; and at the end of 7 times 7 years commenced the grand jubilee.

Every 7th year the land lay fallow; every 7th year there was a general release from all debts, and all bondsmen were set free. From this law may have originated the custom of binding young men to 7 years' apprenticeship, and punishing incorrigible offenders by transportation for 7, twice 7, and three times 7 years. Every 7 years the law was to be read to the people. Jacob served 7 years for the possession of Rachel; and another 7. Noah had 7 days' warning of the flood, and was commanded to take the fowls of the air in 7, and the clean beasts by 7.

The ark touched ground on the 7th month, and in 7 days the dove was sent out, and again in 7 days after. The 7 years of plenty and 7 years of famine were foretold in Pharaoh's dream by 7 fat and 7 lean beasts, and the 7 full and 7 blasted ears of corn.

Nebuchadnezzar was 7 years a beast; and the fiery furnace was 7 times hotter to receive—Shadrach, etc.

A man defiled was, by the Mosaic law, unclean 7 days; the young of both animals was to remain with the dam 7 days, and the end of the 7th was to be taken away.

By the old law man was commanded to forgive his offending brother 7 times; the 7 years of plenty and 7 years of famine were foretold in Pharaoh's dream by 7
fat and 7 lean beasts, and the 7 full and 7 blasted ears of corn.
